

Cleveland

INSIDE

*Jennie
Jones*

OUTSIDE

ORANGE frazier PRESS
Wilmington, Ohio

1981–2011

This book does not begin to include all that makes Cleveland one of the great cities in the United States. It is my personal photographic journey from 1981–2011. It is arranged to be visually stimulating. There are no chapters. There are three dividing clusters which represent the major projects I documented, Key Center, Tower City Center, and Gateway. The fourth and fifth clusters represents University Circle, the cultural, medical and educational heart of the city, and the Cuyaboga Valley area known as the Flats. The remaining images scattered throughout the book are favorites from assignments, places or sights I could not resist recording!

—Jennie Jones, June, 2011

T A B L E O F C O N T E N T S

Introduction	XII
Preface	XIV
Notes	XVI
 The Grand Spaces	2
 Society Center	22
 University Circle	72
 Terminal Tower Complex	106
 Gateway	126
 Flats	150
Index	186

Old Federal Court House

CLEVELAND TRUST 1905–1908

Architect: George B. Post & Sons

Rotunda: Style of Louis Comfort

Tiffany

ARCADE 1890

Architect: George Smith and John Eisenmann

Construction was financed by John D. Rockefeller and other Clevelanders. It is said to be a copy of the Vittorio Emanuele II in Milan, Italy. This photograph was taken before it was altered to become a Hyatt Regency Hotel in 2001.

1 8 9 0

M E E T S

1 9 9 1

Center

JAMES A. GARFIELD
MONUMENT 1890

Designer: George Keller

LAKE VIEW CEMETERY

James A. Garfield was the 20th president of the United States. He was a Civil War hero and member of Congress before he ran for president. Tragically, he was assassinated in 1881..

Lake View Cemetery

JAMES A. GARFIELD
MONUMENT: INTERIOR
Both Garfield and his wife, Lucretia, are buried here as well as the ashes of their daughter, Molly, and son-in-law. The Romanesque exterior gives no hint of the beauty inside. The mosaics and stained glass windows were designed by an artist from London, John S. Chapple.